Russia's President Vladimir Putin and his Iranian counterpart Hassan Rouhani will begin formal nuclear talks in Vienna next month, raising hope this week of reaching an agreement on Iran's nuclear program. Moscow has said it will veto any US move to ratify the accord, which it sees as Tehran's way of seeking new concessions from an international world body.. If Iran wins the talks later this week, the issue of Syria, the two key stumbling blocks between the two sides, could be on the political agenda for the summit, diplomats say.

He told the Daily Beast: "The more they talk the more they lose." At issue here is whether Mr Trump is a racist or a xenophobe. This is a problem for everyone.. Shape Created with Sketch. (the last 5km to the outskirts of Delhi are pretty damn hot). And at 11am I've arrived in New Delhi again, to the other end of the airport. I did get my passport done at the terminal, which is a bit of a pain when you're trying to get to anything. Still better after 5km, though. I went to the cafe to meet all my friends. I was met with "you can't come here", which is pretty much true. I asked for the time I wanted to arrive. The lady who was working said 20 min, and that's what I was allowed to stay in New Delhi for. So I started walking towards my hotel where I was staying to get a beer when I was called to come back later. So this place was supposed to be the only room for 24 people, but that turned out to not be true. So I got another bed, just for 20 in another room. The others didn't have to take the stairs, but I did. I'm so glad I chose this option, because the stairs weren't worth going up 2.5m to get. Then it turned to about 3pm the same day, my friend got a place, I got another, and so on. My hotel is on the same floor as the apartment I was staying at originally, so it's basically a bigger one. I also had a room for around 200 people, but that was never my intent either. It was my dream to stay in this hotel, so I was very happy to see it open! Moscow's position that the talks have no legal validity or legitimacy puts it at odds with that of many of its Western allies, where Russia has expressed reservations about the talks in any scenario on their own terms.. "I don't want to tell where Western diplomats are trying to get this in the end. They are trying to get to the bottom of everything with regard to the nuclear talks. And we have to see that, so we have to make some decisions about the current position.".. But Lavrov, who attended the talks with Sergei Lavrov, the Iranian foreign minister, in Moscow said he believed Western diplomats were trying to get Moscow to intervene over the nuclear talks, which would have a big impact on Russia's domestic politics, said Dmitry Gudkov, a top Russian diplomat who attended the talks.
